FRED SIMS INDICTED ON BURGLARY COUNT

Contradictory Reports Given on Injury to Brother of Former Mayor.

Fred Sims, brother of former Mayor Walter A. Sims, was indicted by the Fulton grand jury Tuesday as the result of an affair at the home of C. A. Green, of 351 East Pace's Ferry road, Monday night in which he was wounded in the head by Green.

The indictment, on a blanket charge of burglary, charges that Sims commited a felony by entering the Green home with intent to "kill and murder C. A. Green." Green was not in-dicted. He is the operator of the Georgia Power Company's sub-station at Smyrna, and a brother-in-law of the indicted man.

the indicted man.

According to Green's statement to county police Tuesday, Sims, who resides next door to him at 359 East. Face's Ferry road, was intoxicated and attempted to enter the Green home. When the doors were bolted, he broke open the front door, Green said, and though shot in the head, engaged in a fistic encounter that ended in the back-yard when neighbors intervened. Sims was treated at Grady hospital and discharged. A bullet from a .38 caliber pistol struck bullet from a .38 caliber pistol struck him in the forehead, traveled around the skull, under the scalp, and lodged behind the ear, it was reported by the county police.

through the sandy coastal region of Southwest Africa, across the Kalahari Desert and through N'Gamiland.

Five naturalists, representing the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, three South Africans and three native boys were in the de Schauensee expedition. Seldom do white men visit this country. Seldom do white men penetrate to the last remote stronghold of the fast disappearing African Bushman. The trip was made in a Ford car and three Ford trucks.

Traveling over rough, irregular trails—leaving those trails to crash through tangled, thorny underbrushtraversing dry, parched areas that had not seen rain in years—the Fords made a remarkable record for stamina and reliable mechanical operation. Through days of summer heat and nights of freezing cold, on occasions when the water supply was almost gone and delay would have been fatal, the Fords went steadily on and on. And, finally, when the long trip was over, they were sold at good prices in the little village of Maun.

Never were sales made under similar conditions. The purchasers knew what the Fords had been through and sought proof of good condition after so many miles of strenuous travel.

So they were driven along the river trail, turned abruptly off into deep sand-beds—extricated without need of help—and subjected to other tests in this land of difficult transportation. Sales were quickly made after such a demonstration.

This is but one of many interesting stories about the ability of the Ford to stand up under the severest driving conditions. The extra demands of long, hard travel reveal the high quality of its materials and scientific expedition along rough African trails, or for every-day motoring in a busy city, you will develop a very real and definite pride in its stamina and dependability.

For here is a car that needs no coddling - no sparing from the rough places and the hard jobs. An important consideration in its designing was the realization that it would be used by millions of people, in different ways, in every section of the world. So it is made with a reserve of strength and power beyond the needs of the average day.

That is the Ford policy. That is the secret of the long-lived satisfactory performance of the Ford. Every part is built to endure - to give you many thousands of miles of economical, care-free motoring.

about cigarettes. But when you try to square some of it with your own common-sense and experience, a lot of it just doesn't "square"!

What smokers want to know about a cigarette is, "How good is it?"

And when it comes to that, cigarettes are just as good and just as pure as the materials from which they're made.

In making Chesterfield, we use only riper, milder, sweeter-tasting tobaccos—the best that money can buy -and pure cigarette paper—the purest that can be made. Our chemists rigidly test for cleanliness and purity all materials used in the manufacture of Chesterfield. In our factories even the air is washed, and changed every 4½ minutes.

Everything that goes into Chesterfield is the best that money can buy or that science knows about.

"Good . . . they've got to be good," we say about CHESTERFIELD - and we mean it! And that's something you can square with everything you've ever read, or heard - or know - about this good cigarette!

TAMMANY POWER

Call for Up-State Probe Ignored; Wider Hofstadter Rights Seen.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(P)— Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt ignored Tammauy Hall in his message to the legislature today, and that organization immediately declared war upon the executive's recommendations. The governor turned down Tammany's demand for an investigation of up-state cities by omitting entirely to mention it in opening the special session.

He asked only for legislation to strengthen the powers of the Hofstadter committee's investigation of New York city. "It must not be confused or entangled with other legislation," he stated. "It is a question that must be decided upon its own merits without delay."

Senator John J. Dunningan, Tamman's senate whip, at once issued a statement denouncing the proposed legislation. He said:

"It is one of the most unfair, unjust, inhuman, despotic, high handet and unnecessary bills ever sponsore, by a major political party for purely spolitical reasens. It is unsound in principle and encouraging to crimi-

HOW TO MAKE THE PATIENT COMFORTABLE.

The nurse's chief duty is to keep the satient comfortable or as comfortable spossible.

patient comfortable or as comfortable as possible.

To insure the greatest possible comfort for a patient requires thoughtfulness and attention to many little details that amateur nurses scarcely comprehend at all.

Here are some of the little things that a good nurse always attends to and a poor one usually neglects:

The patient's bed should be so placed that the patient does not face a window. If the room is artificially lighted the lamp should be out of direct sight of the patient, and at night or when the patient needs sleep the light should be dimmed or shaded. When the patient is awake he or she may enjoy gazing out of a window.

ed. When the patient is awake he or she may enjoy gazing out of a window, particularly if there is a pleasant prospect, but the bed should be rolled around so that the patient will face another way when the window gazing becomes tiresome.

Medicines or utensils or food or dishes must never be permitted to remain in the patient's sight when not in use. The surest mark of a sloppy incompetent, poorly trained nurse is a collection of junk, relics, reminders on a table or stand in the sick room. A nurse with the welfare of her pa-tient at heart never whispers in or near the sick room or permits rela-tives, visitors or inconsiderate strangers to do so. Simple soap and water cleanliness with proper ventilation and as much sunshine as may be available, will prevent odors about the sick room There is no excuse for pulcosing not some "disinfectants" or "antisentics. If a deodorant or a disinfectant. If a deodorant or a disinfectant in necessary in any case, the attending physician will prescribe the proper agent. A good nurse does not take it upon herself to introduce such remedies. For the benefit of home nurses I might say that one of the best dis-infectants for any sort of foul or dan-garous discharge is common "chloric gerous discharge is common "chlorid of lime" purchased in sealed tins or cans from any grocery, hardware or touchstone of their party loyand support.

There has been of late many evidences, that southern dry democrats are much dissatisfied with the results of the national prohibition policy during the eleven years of its existence, and that without making the prohibition question a dominating issue, they will accept a presidential candidate of the feat that modifies. odor of chlorine gas.

Every patient confined to Every patient confined to bed should have a daily sponge bath and a daily back rub.

A good nurse does not omit to wash the patient's face and hands immediately before every meal or feeding.

If the patient is very ill or long emon juice, glycerin and water, used as a mouth wash, will clean up a foul mouth. Simple alkaline antiseptic solution (which is a standard national formulary article any druggist can prepare cheaply) is as good as anything else for brushing the teeth and for rinsing the mouth before and after feeding, especially where the patient takes much milk.

For the sick room select the room without figures or distinct designs in

You Can't Win High-Class Patrons If Your Place Is Filled With Sorry Loafers By Robert Quillen -

No man enjoys confessing ignorance.

Such a confession, since it commonly invites ridicule, requires moral courage, a high degree of honor, and matter-of-fact intelligence.

And people who lack these qualities, being required to choose between certain ridicule and improbable exposure, almost invariably lay claim to knowledge they don't possess.

It does not follow, however, that all people who fail to confess their

If a stupid man sees tadpoles fall from a rain cloud, and never has seen frog eggs in a pool, no testimony can convince him that frogs are hatched elsewhere than in the skies; or if he hears one side of a story, that to him seems plausible, no eloquence or logic can convince him that any other side exists.

So people of his class and mental caliber, having conceived some simple explanation of a mystery that puzzles wiser men, stoutly defend

CALHOUN, Ga.. Aug. 25.—Judge
C. C. Pittman, of Cherokee circuit, in charging a Gordon county grand jury here at the convening of August term of the superior court, designated the accomplishments of the legislative session just closed as the greatest in many years.

Judge Pittman said that "too much praise" could not be given the "young governor for the reform measures passed" and the harmony prevailing the confusion and recounting of ballots in several counties there appeared to be a county unit vote tie and under the rule the candidate having the largest popular vote was to be declared the winner. The convention in Macon and in the turning the largest popular vote was to be declared the winner. It was then generally understood that general Parker would be a candidate for comptroller next year. Then the congressional vacancy in the first district developed and though he at first declared he would not be a candidate. Mr. Parker came into the race and campaign.

Tone of Markets.

What the Market Did.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(P)—
Financial markets settled gradually in tediously slow trading today.
Prominent bankers generally regarded the composition of the new British government formed to deal with the budget crisis as distinctly reassuring. Furthermore, some noted a lightening of pressure against sternling exchange on publication of the new cabinet. There was some further pressure against British bonds. Rowever. owever.
The price average of 90 representa-

The price average of 90 representative stocks showed a net loss for the day of only 2-5 of a point, roughly approximating yesterday's sag of 1-2 point. The turnover of 867.200 shares was slightly above yesterday's. The saverage for the 20 rails again slipped off fractionally to another new low for the past several years. Tobacco shares were the only notably weak group in today's stock market. Losses of 2 to 3 points were shown by the American Tobacco and Liggett & Myers common and Class B shares, and by U. S. Tobacco. The decline has been accompanied by brokerage gossip regarding the possible adverse effect of state taxes on cigarets, and increasing competition from cheap brands.

Such issues as U. S. Steel. American Telephone. General Electric, General Electric, General Electric, General Myestinghouse showed negligible changes at the close. In the rails, few losses exceeded a point.

Oil shares held about steady.

changes at the close. In the rails, few losses exceeded a point.

Oil shares held about steady.

In foreign exchanges, the strong support being accorded the pound sterling was reflected in a 1-8-cent advance for cable transfers, which ruled at $4.85 15-16. Other currencies were generally steady to firm.

In commodities, corn railied, closing 3-8 to 1 3-8 cents higher. Whent, however, lost 1-2 to 7-8 of a cent. Cotton futures declined rather substantially, then recovered to close only 35 to 50 cents a bale lower.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Cotton dropped about a dollar a bale at the opening, then steadied and remained almost stationary until last haif hour when a fair sized rally occurred. Final sales showed losses of less than haif a dollar a bale.

The early decline was brought on by weakness at Liverpool and unfavorable political conditions in Great Britain where a large element of the labor party threatens opposition to policies of the new cabinet. There was possibly some selling on indications that the governor of Texas was not inclined to favor a cotton holiday as angested by the cotton conference.

to 16 points lower. But there was no aggressive support and prices worked off later, with October declining to 6.85 and March to 7.31 during the early afternoon, or about 18 to 22 points net lower.

The offerings were comparatively light, however, and the market stiffened in the last hour. Little southern selling was in evidence during the afternoon. October sold up to 6.99 and March to 7.50, or about 13 to 14 points from the lowest. Last prices were within a point or two of the best.

Some southern selling was reported here during the early trading, but it was evidently in no great volume.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

BY GILES L. FINDLEY. CHICAGO, Aug. 25,—(AP)—Liquidation of the September delivery in all grains carried prices for wheat, corn and rye down to new lows for the season today.

A rally in corn just before the close found the market badly oversold, and hasty covering by shorts forced prices up to fractional gains for the day. composed of 10 bonds each of public utility, railroad and industrial companies touched a new low level for recent years at 91.6, a net loss of two-tenths of a point.

Railroad loans were the hardest hit of the domestic bonds, and a number of them reached new bottom prices. The average price for 10 leading rail issues reached a new low also at 91.3, a net decline of three-tenths of a point for the day.

Continuing unfavorable reports of July earnings of the leading carriers were a British influence on the rail group as a whole.

Foreign obligations also provided many of the widest declines, although some of them even made good gains. Some of the obligations of Australia, Brazil, Germany and Italy were in the latter group. United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland 5 1-2s of 1937 ended with a fractional Joss after a heavy turnover.

Loans of the United States government made moderate losses in quiet trading.

Public utility and industrial bonds were not so active as the railroad or foreign groups, but both of them declined irregularly.

NEW GRADY WARD

OPENS SEPTEMBER 1

Effective September 1 the old assembly hall at Grady hospital will be transformed into a 12-bed ward for orthopedic treatment of girls and women above 12 years of age, it was announced Tuesday by Superintendent J. B. Franklin, who asserted that this alteration will greatly relieve the congestion in the regular female surgical ward.

The orthopedic ward will be employed exclusively in the treatment of broken bones, it was said. A survey of the hospital over a lengthy period, the superintendent added, revealed that the daily average number of orthopedic cases is 12.

OILS IN SPOTLIGHT

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER. NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)— Speculative interest in curb stocks today was concentrated largely in oil Fluctuations elsewhere for the most part were extremely narrow. The market as a whole maintained a

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(P)—It was announced at the offices of the United States Steel Corporation that only routine business was considered at the meetings of the directors and the finance committee this afternoon.

The meetings had been watched with considerable interest in Wall Street, in view of the recent financial news ticker discussions of the possibility of a wage reduction. No announcement regardings wages was made, however.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

"There goes a man," said my companion, "whom life has dry-cleaned." Of course, I wanted to know why and how, as do you. This is the story: His health is broken. His back is bent with arthritis, his heart is very bad and he can scarcely get around, hobbling on a stick. But that is only the beginning. His wife deserted him and ran away with another man. They had no children. His business failed, because of his health and his hopeless state of mind. He is bankrupt with nothing laid aside. He has lost his faith in humanity and his faith in God. But, continued my friend, "he doesn't complain. He is resigned. He's stripped and he's whipped. He never raises his hoad any more, for he is expecting another blow and when it comes it will be the death blow—nothing is left but life. He can't lose anything else."

"He doesn't complain." That, is a pitiable commentary. It is fearful to see a spirited man resigned, reconciled to anything that fate holds for him. It is like looking on a heavyweight boxer lying prone on the canvas, knocked out. One minute he is a magnificent animal full of fight, the next he is a helpless mass of flesh on the floor.

The man or woman who has no faith has a right to complain. That person is the most pitiable person in the world. There is no hope in his heart. There is no pleasure in his life. Faith in God and faith in man; they go well together. Faith and affection are inseparably linked in our lives. A woman believes in her husband and loves him. She loves him because she believes in him. The child has faith in his parents and he loves them because he has faith in them. They are hard to separate, faith and love, and life is not worth living without them. Then comes wealth. Not riches, not opulence, not affluence, but the wealth that distinguishes one from the beggar and the dependent. The wealth that means enough money for the necessities of a person's station. After all, what is wealth but the measure of a man's ambition and his ability to realize it? Any idea that is measured by money is a variable one. What is wealth to one is poverty to another and vice versa. Laurie Lassiter entertained the guests by dancing. The gifts were present-ed by little Miss Shirley Homes, who was dressed as a miniature bride.

Any man is wealthy who has what he needs, who has money for his necessities and for those of his family.

But wealth, and faith, and affection, all take their color from health. Nobody knows but the man who has lost it what it can mean. Nobody knows but the man who has it what full and joyous living can be. Nobody but the person who has health and ill-health alternately can enter into the joys of the well man, and the sorrows of the sick man.

Health is the greatest of all blessings. It is man's most precious possession. And like all the best things of life it cannot be bought. It belongs to rich and poor alike; and it may be lost by rich and poor alike. No matter how much money a man may have, he is not wealthy unless he has health to enjoy it. No matter how fine a wardrobe a woman may possess and no matter how many jewels she may have to go with it, if she is an invalid they give her no pleasure. ### Culbertson on Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Psychology in Slam Bidding

Up to contracts of four- and possibly five-odd, various systems con cerned with card valuation enable a partnership to arrive at quite accurate estimates of the combined strength held. Beyond that they are admittedly largely inapplicable for the reason that the position or holding of a certain Ace or King may be determining, whereas a corresponding high card may be valueless, also because a hand becomes less flexible in the play the higher the contract is. Several artifi-cial conventions are in use to assist in arriving at Slams such as showing of Aces and voids but the information thus conveyed is usually dependent for success upon too many other factors to counterbalance the disadvantages. I believe the natural method of Approach advocated in the Forcing Sys-tem to be conducive to the best results but successful Slam bidding must al-but successful Slam bidding must always be based upon very keen card seuse and insight into the partner's psychology rather than mathematics. Different tactics should apply in bidding for a Slam from those used in merely contracting for game is the only way to win a rubber, there is a wide range of hands with which it is necessary to take a chance With is a wide range of hands with which it is necessary to take a chance. With a poor or unknown partner, however, it is unwise to try for a Small Slam unless holding somewhat better than a 2 to 1 chance, while a Grand Slam should not be attempted with anything but a practical certainty. The risk of a misplay is too great while the opportunity to conclude an undesirable partnership successfully should not be jeopardized by a doubtful Slam bid.

In bidding for a Slam it is an important precaution to follow a reversed process of reasoning, i.e., count losers and visualize possible losing combinations rather than add automatically one's values to those shown by the partner's bidding. Close consideration should always be given to both the partner's and the opponent's nature and their state of mind at the time.

The term Raise is restricted to assists of partner's bids. The inference from the Raise is that partner's bid seems to be the best for the combined hands and that no further search is necessary. At the same time the raising strength of the hand is inferred from the number of Raises given:

GAME IS LAST OF 1931 SEASON

Carithers Halts Late Memphis Rally; Barron Leads Crackers.

MEMPHIS. Tenn., Aug. 25.—Atlanta's Crackers closing the 1931 season with the Memphis Chicks here this afternoon, handed out a 4-3 slap in the face as a parting gesture. The Chicks, however, are champions of the Crackers, for in the 22-game set the Tribe finished eight up, or 15 to 7.

The Crackers will rest here tomorrow before moving across the river for a four-game series with the Trav-elers starting Thursday.

The Crackers won a ball game to-day almost in spite of themselves and principally because the Chicks snubbed opportunity after opportunity thrust at them by the Crackers. Walter Beck started for the Chicks and Johnny Morrison started for the Travelers. BOTH OUSTED.

Neither finished, although Morrison was credited with the victory and Beck charged with the defeat. Beck went out for a pinch-hitter in the seventh and George Granger, the "handy-man" of the Tribe, finished it. Young Mr. Carithers, a left-sider, succeeded Morrison in the ninth after the Chicks had made three hits, scored one run and had two others on the paths. Frank Brazill topped one to Carithers, who tossed to first and it was over.

There were four flaws in the fielding of the Crackers and three in the work of the Chicks. The Crackers, however, earned their four runs, whereas the Chicks earned but one driven in by Tex Jeanes in the ninth. Beck was given a one-run margin in the second when, with two out, Barron missed a dive for Taylor's drive that went for a triple. When Shealy missed the return, Taylor came on home.

Beck had been in trouble in every inning but managed to get by until the fifth, when the Crackers scored three times. Barron singled for a starter. Barnes popped to second, Barron stole second and scored on Lee's single. Chapman grounded out, with Lee going to third on the play. Rothstein walked and stole second. And then Ryan singled, scoring Lee and Rothstein. Ryan overran first base and was out, with Beck taking the return from Jeanes and running Ryan down.

From the second to the eighth Morrison allowed but three hits. Reese set off the eighth with a double, Jeanes and Brazill flied to center. Taylor walked. When Shealy let Hutcheson's grounder sift through, Reese scored and Taylor went to third. He was left there when Young Berry, Chick catcher, struck out.

Stallings called in the general direction of the sound.

After ever so long a time a young-ster trotted into view. He carried a baseball bat in one hand and a glove in the other. His face was a little grimy, but perspiring and happy. He walked leisurely up to where his mother stood on the porch.

The Crackers had scored in the cighth off Granger without a hit. Chapman and Rothstein walked. Ryan then struck out and was put out of the park for throwing his bat. Chapman and Rothstein moved up on a will pitch and Chapman scored after Hutcheson caught Shealy's fly to deep right. right.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 25.—Further prospecting for the 1932 season, the Ctackers today took on Jackie Reid, right-handed pitcher, late of the Reid, right-handed pitcher, late of the Jackson champions of the Cotton States league. Reid won 16 games and lost 5 to lead the league. Johnny Dobbs, manager of the Crackers, announced that Reid would make his Cracker debut during the series with the Travelers starting in Little Rock Thursday.

Dobbs incidentally is enthusiastic over three of his youngsters being groomed for 1932 service. They are Benny Rothstein, first baseman, former Georgia grid star; Darr Shealy, from Cairo, Ga., and John Carithers. a young left-hander. SCISSORS WINS.

Jones won the second fall with his famous hook seissors. Zarnes battled the hold for several minutes, climbing the hold for several minutes, climbing to his feet three times. He was rocked into near insensibility before losing the fall. Greatly to the surprise of the crowd he came back for the third fall and wrestled more than 10 minutes before being pinned with a seizers hold.

In the O'Shocker match, the Irishman lost one fall, the second of the match, when Steinborn got his bear thus. O'Shocker broke two of them, one by dragging himself to the ropes. The third was too much for him.

Those at the ringside saw a vivid demonstration of the power of the hold. O'Shocker's sides were streaked with red where the German's strong arms had clasped him in the bear

THE LEG STRANGLE.

O'Shocker won the first fall with his leg strangle. In it he catches an opponent sitting down. He then steps over, grabs one leg at the knee and yanks it back. At the same time he sits down, forcing the shoulders down. The backward force given by the pull on the leg aids. It was a quick fall, coming in about 20 minutes.

After Steinborn won the second fall O'Shocker came back to win the final and deciding fall.

In the opening preliminary, Whitey Patterson beat his opponent, the Buckhead Battler, in a match which proved almost as exciting as the feature matches.

NEW CHAMPIONS

Bryan Grant Plays Exhibition Match in Macon Monday.

Not only will the Georgia state tennis tournament starting Monday have a new scene this year—at Macon—but it is sure to have a new champion in every event. And in the men's singles neither Bryan Grant, defending cham-pion, nor Jack Mooney, runner-up, will play.

Grant will leave about the middle of the week for Forest Hills, where he will compete in the national championships, but he has consented to play an exhibition match on Monday, the first day of the meet. It will be the first time the diminutive star has played a watch in the south this summer.

Atlanta, and Mel Tarpley, Tampa, Florida.

The men's doubles champions of last year, Jimmie and Al Halverstadt, and the runners-up, Jack Simpson and Ralph DeMotte, will not be on hand, since Al Halverstadt and DeMotte are at present living in the east. From the present entries the most likely winners in the doubles appear to be Hines and Shuford and Reese and Jimmie Halverstadt. As yet it is not known whom Jack Simpson and Judge Beaver will team up with. Should they team together they would probably be the favorites.

In the junior singles and doubles most of last year's winners and runners-up have graduated into the men's class. Jimmie Halverstadt was the winner in singles with Reese the finalist, and Reese and George Boynton were the doubles champions. Both Reese and Halverstadt are now playing in men's events. The strongest contenders for the titles this year in

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 25.—(P)—
The giant German plane DO-X passed over the city at 41:55 a. m., steering a course from the southeast until it reached Savannah and then changing to northeast toward Charleston. A prior message from Captain Fritz Hammer, commander of the plane, had said the plane would pass over Tybes island, 18 miles east of the city. Hundreds of automobiles had gone down to the islands and the occupants anticipating a glimpse of the great flying boat were disappointed. The DO-X was making fast speed.

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—(UP)—Gar Wood. American Harmsworth trophy defender, announced today, that he would use his rebuilt Miss America IX to race Kaye Don's Miss England II.

Wood said he has installed superchargers on Miss America's two powerful Packard motors and added 18 inches to the stern of the craft.

"With these super-chargers," the white-haired racing veteran said, "I could have made 115 miles an hour at Miami last winter."

The Miss America IX attained a top speed of 103 miles an hour in time trials at Miami, Don's Miss England II, which is larger and heavier than Wood's boat, set a world's record of 110 miles an hour in Italy last

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 75

How long they had been rowing, Jason Gridley could not guess. Nor did he know if they had passed the danger zone. No one had either eaten or slept since the boat had reached this stretch of the river. The Korsars paid little attention to the right bank. But upon the dark and gloomy left bank they centered their nervous watchful gaze. Gridley was ready to drop from exhaustion when a cry, vibrant with excitement, arose from the bow.

"There they are?" shouted the man and instantly all was excitement aboard the boat. "Keep to the oars!" cried their leader, "our best chance is to run through them." A horde of creatures swam out upon the placid river, man-like creatures rid-ing upon giant lizards, which darted through the water with incredible speed. Thoar shuddered. "They are the Horibs," he whispered. "It is better to die than to fall into their clutches."

Presently one succeeded in casting a leather rope over a cleat in the gunwale. Instantly several Horibs seized it and headed their mounts toward the river's bank. Exhausted and without weapons, Jason and Thoar lay in the bottom of the boat, almost past caring what fate befell them. On all sides arquebuses still roared amid screams and curses. And above all arose the shrill, hissing screech that seemed to be the war cry of the Movibs.

CLOUD KING THE CONDOR. BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who to his neighbors does no ill Deserves their friendship and good -Old Mother Nature.

Long before Farmer Brown's Boy and Cousin Tom had seen him Cloud King the Condor had seen the ap proaching airplane. He had been taking a sunbath high up on a cliff from which he could at the same time look off over what seemed like a large part of the Great World. At first, miles away, the plane had looked like a bird, like one of his own kind, but soon he knew it for what it was, one of those strange man-birds, those terribly noisy man-birds that more and more fre-quently shattered the peace and solitude which Cloud King loved.

For a few minutes he sat watching.

His head and neck were bare. They had no feathers, for he is bald-headed like his cousin, Ol' Mistah Buzzard. Both are Vultures. But whereas Ol' Mistah Buzzard has a red head and is called the Turkey Vulture, and there is another with a black head, Cloud cuffs, made detachable, were of white pique.

And you'll be surprised how easily it is made. The front of the skirt in panel style cuts in one with the front of the waist.

Style No. 588 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 3-4 yards of 35-inch material with 3-8 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

The wool challis prints are delightfully fashionable and lovely for this cute peplum dress.

Plaited ginghams, flecked rayon wool voile and tweed-like cottons are strikingly lovely in their new fall coloring.

is another with a black head, Cloud King's head was neither red nor black, but yellow. He was awkward and clumsy looking as he sat there. But when at length he spread his great wings and sailed out over the canyons and valleys he became magnificent, for his wings stretched more than ten feet from tip to tip. While he is called the California Condor his proper name is California Vulture. However, Condor he has long been called and Condor he probably always will be called.
